ITEMIZATION OF GOODS AND SERVICES

Itemization of Goods and Services lists our charges for individual services provided. The goods and services shown below are those we can provide to your family. You may choose only the items that you desire. However, any funeral arrangement you select will include a charge for our basic services and overhead. If legal or other requirements mean that you must buy any items that you did not specifically ask for, we will explain the reason in writing on the statement we provide describing the funeral goods and services you selected.

Also included in this charge are overhead expenses relative to our facility such as insurance, maintenance and utility expenses, secretarial and administrative costs, and equipment and inventory expenses.

This fee for our basic services and overhead will be added to the total cost of the funeral arrangements you select. (This fee is already included in our charges for direct cremations, immediate burials, and forwarding or receiving remains.)

Outer Burial Container Price List

Prices effective as of June 24, 2013 and are subject to change without notice

Vaults have been used for decades to secure the casket in the ground. The use of vaults was started during the dark ages when grave robbing was common. The size and weight of the vault prohibited grave robbers from getting inside.

Today vaults are used mainly to keep the weight of the earth above from caving in on the casket, thus leaving a dip on the surface of the grave. Vaults are also made in such a way as to prevent the entrance of grave site elements. We call these lined vaults.

In most areas of the country, state or local law does not require that you buy a container to surround the casket in the grave. However, many cemeteries require that you have such a container so that the grave will not sink in. Either a graveliner or a burial vault will satisfy these requirements. Most cemeteries in this area require a burial vault or grave liner. We can help you if you want to know whether your cemetery requires a vault. Lined vaults are not required by cemeteries, but are often used because of the peace of mind such protection provides.
